Bad Mail Addresses

Mostly if you are using a free internet mail account there are sometimes problems to send you an e-mail. It happens when you didn't make a log in at your account for some days or some weeks. Then the providers will deactivate your mail-address merciless. And in this case we get mails back by "Mail delivery failed: returning message to sender". The background is – providers want to offer their clients a perfect data pool. And if you are a trustless user you will be kicked out! Remember: you are not the client – you are the merchandise!

How to make it better

However it is a good idea to type in a second e-mail address. Also if you give us a phone number or your postal address we can establish contact to you, when there are any errors in other data.

Thank you very much.
